A PHYSICIAN'S LETTER.
 "GENTLEMEN:—I am glad to write you my opinion of 'IVORY SOAP,' and have long intended doing so.
 It has become a household necessity with us.
 If there is an unusually obstinate spot on the clothing, on the wood-work, an ink daub on my desk cover; a polish required for the door-plate or surgical instruments, a cleansing and harmless preparation for the teeth, and a very superior toilet soap needed, we resort to 'IVORY.' We buy it by the box, remove the wrappers, and allow the soap to thoroughly ripen.
 Now, if I had saved fifteen wrappers I would ask you to send my little girl a drawing book in accordance with your offer in the Youth's Companion; but as it is, we all feel under obligation to you for manufacturing 'IVORY SOAP' for us.
 We do not hesitate to recommend it unqualifiedly to all our friends. It is one of the few articles that will do what it is advertised to do."

A WORD OF WARNING.
 There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory,' they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

 THE SENATE DISCUSSES TITLES OF OUR AMBASSADORS.

House Amendments to the Sundry Civil Bill—Correspondence Relating to the Samoan Outrages—Gossip.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The consular and diplomatic bill was taken up by the Senate Monday and the following amendments were adopted: The appropriation committee were agreed to: Appropriating $15,000 for the families of Japanese subjects killed or injured by shells from the United States steamer Omaha, inserting an item of $3,000 for a consul-general at Apia, Samoa; transferring the consulate at Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, from class 5 ($2,000) to class 4 ($2,500), and providing for a consulate of the same class for Paso del Norte. Mr. Gibson moved to insert the words "ambassadors" instead of the words "envoys extraordinary and ministers plenipotentiary," as ambassadors, France, Germany, Great Britain and Russia.

Mr. Plumb favored striking out the entire paragraph. He said the consular bill had been in the Senate during the last eight years, and the Senate had its representatives abroad. They had not supported the dignity and simplicity of American citizens. If the right man—such as Judge Minton or Mr. Blount—were sent abroad it was no matter what they might be called. They would burst the cerements of diplomacy as known and recognized by the United States, and they would be sent abroad were simply the tools of the wave—the more idlers and loungers and wall-flowers at receptions.

Mr. Reagan spoke in favor of abolishing the entire diplomatic service, as something which, in these days of steam and electricity and newspapers, had outgrown its usefulness. Mr. Sherman favored the amendment as tending to advance the rank of our representatives.

Mr. Plumb argued in favor of the abolition of the whole diplomatic system of the United States, and referred to the fact that the government of Great Britain had been for months past disfranchised at Washington under the exigencies of the Democratic party, and the nation continued to move in its accustomed way. Lord Sackville, he said, had been set aside because he was too free with his pen and wrote a letter which (Mr. Plumb) thought a model consular despatch. He could not have done it better himself. And Mr. Phelps, he said, was coming home on account of it.

Mr. Blair said that, when the Senate picked out the four great powers—Great Britain, France, Germany, and Russia—and said to them, "We send you ambassadors, but send to other nations ministers of a lower grade." The Senate later on had a publican, a discreditable, and a disgraceful thing. If he had his own will he would strike out of the bill the words "envoys extraordinary and ministers plenipotentiary," and simply the word "minister." And he gave notice that he would offer an amendment to that effect.

Without coming to a vote on Mr. Gibson's amendment the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.
 Discussing Amendments to the Sundry Civil Bill.
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The call of States for the introduction and reference of bills was dispensed with, and leave was granted to members to file their measures with the clerk.

On motion of Mr. Long (Mass.) the Senate bill increasing the pensions of soldiers and sailors, who have lost both hands to $100 a month, was passed.

On motion of Mr. Landley (Ill.) a bill was passed granting the Mount Carmel Development company the privilege of drawing water from the Walshaw river.

On motion of Mr. Ementrout (Pa.) the Senate concurrent resolution providing for the joint meeting of the two Houses of Congress Wednesday, Feb. 1, for the purpose of counting the electoral vote, was agreed to.

The committee on the District of Columbia, through their chairman, Mr. Russell (S. C.), made an effort to secure the floor, but the committee on appropriations, headed by Mr. Randall (Pa.) proved too formidable an antagonist. The bill was declined to consider district business, and went into committee of the whole Mr. Dockery of Missouri in the chair on the sundry civil appropriation.

Amendments were agreed to appropriating $250,000 for investigating the best methods of irrigating the arid regions; increasing the appropriation for the Rock Island canal $15,500, and appropriating $50,000 for the education of Alaskan children. The clause providing for a Congressional inquiry into the condition of Alaska was ruled out of the bill on a point of order. The committee then rose and the House adjourned.

NO MORE CONFIRMATIONS.
 The Senate Will Not Act on Mr. Cleveland's Future Nominations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—There is little probability that the Senate will confirm any more nominations of President Cleveland, except for the promotion of officers in the army and navy in accordance with law. A friend of Mr. Trenchum, the comptroller of the currency, said today that this officer desired to resign at once in order to accept an offer of private employment, provided the Senate would confirm his successor, and make this statement before the finance committee. The members of the committee declined to give him the desired assurance. So Mr. Trenchum has decided to remain in office until President Harrison can select his successor, as it would not do to leave his bureau without a responsible head for so long a time.

New Mexicans Don't Want Statehood.
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—A memorial was presented in the Senate today from citizens of New Mexico protesting against the admission of that Territory. The memorial says that statehood is opposed by a majority of the citizens engaged in commercial pursuits as being against the business interests of the Territory, that the Territory is unfit for admission because the greater part of the people are unfamiliar with the English language, and are easily controlled by unscrupulous politicians, and that the character of the Territory is such that the gravest fear that if left to enact laws not resulting code would be a disgrace to the State.

A Stranded Steamer Afloat.
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The British steamer Albany, from New Orleans for Liverpool, which was floated after being ashore on the North Carolina coast, left her anchorage off Cape Fear last night, and is supposed to have made for Newport News or Norfolk for coal.

Executive Clemency for James D. Fish.
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The President is commuted the sentence of James D. Fish, formerly president of the Marine National bank of New York, who was convicted in April, 1885, of misappropriating the funds of that bank, and sentenced June 27, 1885, to ten years' imprisonment in the State prison at Auburn, N. Y., upon the first count of the indictment, with the statement that judgment for a like punishment will be entered upon conviction under ten other counts of the indictment.

THE SAMOAN OUTRAGES.
 Secretary Whitney Refuses to Publish a Report from Commander Mullan.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Secretary Whitney received a long report from Commander Mullan of the United States steamer Nipah, dated at Apia, Samoa, Dec. 26, giving a detailed account of occurrences since Dec. 3, and covering the period of the engagements between the United States and the Samoans, and of the alleged insults to the American flag. A copy of the report will be furnished to the Secretary of State, and will probably be transmitted to Congress the latter part of this week, together with the correspondence received Saturday from Acting Consul-General Blacklock on the same subject. The Secretary will make public any of this correspondence, confining himself to the simple statement that there is nothing in it that has not already appeared in the newspapers.

Chairman Herivel of the House committee on naval affairs called at the state department today and had a conference with Secretary Bayard in regard to the situation. It is reported that the Secretary will have something more to say on the subject when he sends to Congress the correspondence which has taken place since his last message.

The report to the effect that Moore had fled is untrue. He has not fled, and rides about the city as independent as before the exposure.

It is said by those who ought to know that Moore will not be arrested and that the company has no inclination to begin legal proceedings against him. Just why this is so is a problem which no one seems able to solve. A strong undercurrent of sympathy exists here for Moore, who has many excellent traits of character and has made many friends during his busy career. This sympathy finds its expression in the apparent mystery surrounding the great defalcation and the refusal of the public to place all the blame upon Moore until it is unequivocally shown that he deserves it. This sentiment finds expression in a lengthy editorial in an evening paper, in which the assertion is made that the president of the company was notified two years ago that there was something wrong with Moore's accounts, and that all he did in response was to send the letter back to Moore.

It transpires that Moore looked to the future welfare of his family by insuring a life heavily. His policies include one of $25,000 in the New England Mutual, $20,000 in the Mutual Life of New York, $10,000 in the Northwestern of Milwaukee, and $10,000 in the Provident Savings. The policies are payable to Moore's family and can not be seized by his creditors.

THE LATTIMER MURDER CASE.
 Something About the Strange Death of the Father of the President.
 JACKSON, Mich., Jan. 20.—The murder of Mrs. Lattimer brings back to memory the incidents relating to the mysterious death of R. Irving Lattimer's father, sixteen months ago. The night of Oct. 21, 1887, Robt. F. Lattimer returned home, and after feeding a flock of geese, drank a glass of cider, and in a half hour was dead. The prominent physicians at the time surmised poisoning, but Mrs. Lattimer opposed a post mortem, as it would be so shocking to her by Irving. The morning of his father's death Irving rushed around to the bank to pay his father's life insurance premium. But he was a few days too late.

The interior of Irving's shoes are badly spotted with blood and he has the coolest bearing imaginable, and spent Sunday playing cards with other prisoners in the jail. There is $1,500 yet to be accounted for. It is now said that Irving had trouble with his mother after she refused to advance him more money.

White Caps at Tecumseh, Mich.
 ADRIAN, Mich., Jan. 20.—White Caps have made their appearance in this county and the prosecuting attorney is now investigating. Notices written in red ink, one side ornamented with white crosses and the other with a barrel on which is written the word "tar," have been received by several citizens of the village of Tecumseh. The notices are said to be a lodge of the order has been formed there, and that every citizen who is guilty of failure to support his family will be punished.

Robbed His Wards.
 MITCHELL, Ind., Jan. 20.—Julian C. McClure, a prominent man of Jackson county, has disappeared, and to-day it was learned he was short in his accounts as guardian of minor heirs over $23,000. One month ago he was reported by his bondsmen, but a warrant was sworn out against him for embezzlement and he left the county. He is supposed to be in Canada. For over five years McClure has made no report to the court of the assets of the minors. Just what the losses of his bondsmen will be is not known.

Stabbed in a Boyish Quarrel.
 PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 20.—A youth of 16 years, who has been identified as Matthew Gandy, was stabbed through the back yesterday by Harry Brown, aged 19, who lives on Moline avenue. The murder occurred during a street quarrel. Enid fled, but was arrested at his home while hiding behind some rubbish in the cellar.

A Woman Sentenced to Death.
 PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 20.—Mrs. Hannah Burrows, who stabbed and killed her husband in August last, while he was lying in bed, and last week pleaded guilty of the crime, was to-day sentenced by Judge Hare to be hanged.

HARRISON'S CABINET.
 Senator Allison Leaves for Washington.
 WARREN, Minn., Jan. 20.—Senator Allison left this city for Washington at 2:50 p. m. Monday. The day prior to his departure was spent in conference with Gen. Harrison. The Senator left the city in excellent humor. When told at the depot that he had been selected for the State department by some of the correspondents he laughed heartily and said: "That is very good." He said that within the next few days some important replies would be received by the President-elect and intimated that a number of cabinet offers had very recently been made. He is also said to have let slip, while conversing hastily with a well-known man of this city, some expression which had the effect of impressing a doubt upon the latter's mind as to the tenacity of Mr. Allison having accepted the treasury portfolio.

One of the most distinguished Republicans in Indiana last evening remarked that it was well settled that Warren Miller was to have a seat in the Cabinet. When pressed for his authority he would say nothing more on the subject and gave evidence of being a little concerned that the cabinet list would be settled before he had a position in the Cabinet ex-Senator Miller was to have been replied: "Oh, I do not know, but he is quite capable of filling any vacant place."

Burning of a Chinatown.
 SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 20.—About forty wooden buildings in Dutch Flat, Cal., comprising the Chinatown of that place, were destroyed by fire yesterday. The loss is $20,000.

A Narrow Escape.
 Col. W. K. Nelson, of Brooklyn, came home one evening, feeling a peculiar tightness in the chest. Before retiring he tried to draw a long breath but found it almost impossible. MAY REACH A MILLION.
MOORE'S DEFALCATION LARGER THAN FIRST SUPPOSED.
 Mysterious Features of the Case—The Michigan Murder Mystery—A Trustee Short-Criminal Matters.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 20.—Interest in the great Moore defalcation continues almost unabated here. New and startling rumors are constantly being circulated and telegraphed abroad. It is now reported that Moore's shortage will run to $1,000,000. This statement is published here as a fact, but careful inquiry fails to verify it. On the other hand, Winfield Miller, the trustee to whom Moore transferred his property and who is now a tinge as the representative of the company here, said positively that the defalcation does not exceed the first figures given by President Green.

The report to the effect that Moore had fled is untrue. He has not fled, and rides about the city as independent as before the exposure.

It is said by those who ought to know that Moore will not be arrested and that the company has no inclination to begin legal proceedings against him. SOMETHING FOR AMATEUR MATHEMATICIANS TO CONJURE WITH.

The following little problem is being passed around by newspapers for the purpose of interesting those who spend their leisure hours in striking balances: The state of New Hampshire had a liquor law that required each town to have a liquor agent. At the close of the year this agent and members of the town board in a certain town differed in the settlement, and it gave rise to much controversy. It was finally referred to a professional mathematician, and was subsequently given out at a number of teachers' institutes, where the results obtained differed widely. It is a simple business proposition and seems easy enough of solution, but try it and see if you can figure it out correctly. The items of the case are as follows:

Cash received from predecessor on taking office—$32.17
Value of liquor received at the same time—57.54
Cash received for sales during the year—102.97
Paid for liquor bought during the year—59.91
Value of liquor on hand at end of year—31.87
Salary of the agent—25.00

Does the agent owe the town or the town owe the agent, and how much. Send your answer to this office.

THE CITY HOSPITAL.

The Recorder knows so much about hospitals that the city could well afford to establish one and place it in the hands of our worthy contemporary for management. Does it ever seem to our neighbors of the quill, and their sympathizers, that the board of directors comprising fifteen ladies and gentlemen, interested simply in the welfare of an institution that has already done much to relieve suffering, are working from purely disinterested motives? They give not only money but time freely, and to say the least, are entitled to better treatment than the Recorder seems inclined to give. The world has never lacked for croakers and fault finders, but the press when possessed of ordinary intelligence is usually free from the spirit which seems to actuate the morning sheet. The Gazette voices the sentiment of the board of directors in saying that the city should own and control the city hospital. The paper will add that when the city is ready to assume control, a thoroughly equipped institution is in waiting, which would not have been in existence but for the interest taken in the enterprise by public spirited men and women, who practice working, more than croaking.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 15 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with northwest wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 22 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with northwest wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 21 and 31 degrees above zero.

DOESN'T FAVOR IMPROVEMENT.

INNOVATIONS IN CITY GOVERNMENT DISCUSSED BY THE RECORDER EDITOR.

Years ago when the editor of the Recorder was a small boy down in the state of Maine it was the custom of the people to convey their corn and wheat to the mill on horseback. In order to balance the bag on the back of the horse the bag was filled about half full of corn or wheat, a string tied around the center of the bag, and then a hard-head stone of equal weight to the "grist" placed in the other end and the bag was tied and placed on the back of the horse, grain on one side, stone on the other. A few years before the editor of the Recorder began to cultivate his mountaineer, immigrants from other states commenced to settle in Maine, one family coming, we believe, from Kentucky or Pennsylvania. This family carried new ideas into that state which were adopted by a majority of the people, and they all prospered. Some did not believe in the radical innovations of the new-comers, and left their homes and the state rather than throw away the ideas of their fathers.

The editor of the Recorder emigrated and found a home in Janesville. Under the tuition of this family from Kentucky-Pennsylvania, the stone in the bag of grain was thrown away, and larger grists were conveyed to mill with the same means of transportation as before. The editor of the Recorder no longer admires the land of his early boyhood, because such a great change has been wrought. Poor people of his youth are now living in luxury, having, by means of the new innovations introduced, accumulated fortunes, while he is residing in Janesville, editing a morning democratic paper, and echoing the old chestnut ever and anon:—

"The several wards of this city shall be represented in the common council by two aldermen who shall be residents thereof."

The new ideas which were grafted into the political system of the people of Maine have expanded until some of the branches have reached Janesville as well as other western cities, and the Recorder man is greatly worried. It is simply proposed to throw the stone out of the imaginary bag, held up by the Recorder editor, and change the echo so as to sound something like this:—"The several wards of this city shall be represented in the common council by two aldermen, who shall be residents thereof, who shall be elected on a general city ticket."

A man, whose capacity to represent his constituency is bounded either by the river or East or West Milwaukee streets, would hardly be in favor with the people, and therefore would not likely be found occupying a seat in the common council.

Nearly all the cities in the country are now agitating the plan of city representation. Many cities have already adopted it, and it works to the advantage of all. The wards forfeit nothing, the city is greatly benefited. No sound argument can be made in opposition to this new innovation in municipal affairs.

A SORRY PLEASURE TRIP.

A VISIT TO THE THEATRE COSTS MRS. WELLS A BROKEN ARM.

The lively market for tobacco caused a serious accident on the Footville road near this city, last evening. A trio of farmers, who had sold their last for good prices, celebrated the sale by each exchanging his load of nicotine for a load of "Satan's soothing syrup." About six o'clock they started for home, racing to see which had the best teams. They failed to notice the approach of a team from the other direction, and near the home of C. B. Downing, there was a collision.

The farm wagons stood the shock easily but a carriage containing a party of Footville people on their way to the theatre was badly wrecked. Several members of the party were thrown out and when Mrs. Fred Wells was picked up it was found that she had sustained a fractured arm. She endured her sufferings bravely, however, and after the broken arm had been set the party carried out their original programme and attended the theatre as if nothing had happened.

"HIS NATURAL LIFE."

A SMALL AUDIENCE WATCHED THE PERFORMANCE LAST EVENING.

Empty seats were the rule rather than the exception at the opera house last evening. "His Natural Life" failed to draw, and the play which was worthy of much praise, was presented to an audience of discouraging proportions. Of the manner of the presentation it may be said that the cast throughout was fully up to the standard, and that Charles Manbury as Rufus Darvey, and Miss Nellie Boyd as Sarah Parley both merited thoroughly the applause which they received. Miss Boyd, portrayed the wily adventures of a type far from rare, with fidelity and spirit.

A PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

William Parish Maimed for Life While Chopping Cord Wood.

His Foot Almost Severed from the Ankle—Permanent Lameness Feared.

William Parish, living on Milton avenue just outside the city limits, was badly wounded by an axe in the hands of his brother yesterday afternoon. He and his brother Benjamin Parish, were chopping cord wood, and as William stepped over the log on which they were at work his left foot came in line with his brother's descending axe.

Before he could draw back, the keen blade had bedded itself in the upper part of the instep. The axe entered directly over the hollow of the foot and parted the bone and tendon so that the foot hung almost severed from the ankle.

The accident happened shortly before five o'clock. When medical aid was secured, it was found that the parted tendons had contracted so that the ends were drawn back into the calf of the leg and could not be reunited. It is feared that the wound will result in the loss of the foot, or in permanent lameness.

THINK MORRISSEY WILL PLAY.

THE JANESVILLE BALL PLAYER DISCUSSED AT ST. PAUL.

Manager J. S. Barnes, of the St. Paul nine, picked up a paper the other day, containing arguments made by T. J. Morrissey, of this city, against the salary-limit rule.

"The adoption of this rule," said Manager Barnes, "made it necessary for us to out expense, and some of the boys kicked loud and long over the proposed reduction of salaries. They are coming to their minds, though, with alacrity, and we will soon have all of them we want corralled. Reilly rushed into print with the statement that he would not sign with the St. Pauls at the salary offered, and stated that he was ready to sign with anybody. When he saw his old talk in print he was paralyzed, and hastened to tell President Thompson he did not mean it, and signed a contract with ridiculous haste. Picketts was also inclined to step out the traces, but has concluded St. Paul is good enough for him. My attention is now called to this eruption of bile by Mr. Morrissey."

"Morrissey is reported to have unbosomed himself to a Milwaukee Sentinel reporter in the following astonishing fashion: 'I have not signed with St. Paul yet, and I do not know that I will. Of course I am held under the reserve rule, but I am nobody's slave, and if St. Paul wants to loan me for a song they can count on me. The salary limit rule is a bob-tailed affair, which provides for maximum, but says nothing about minimum wages. St. Paul is offering enormous prizes, but studiously avoids mentioning pay for services.'"

"I think the fellow has been incorrectly reported by some Milwaukee reporter who hasn't any use for St. Paul. I am betting that the young man with the blonde hair will be ready when we want him."

SPANISH IN ROCK COUNTY.

O. L. DE FOREST TELLS OF THE MONEY TO BE MADE.

O. L. De Forest, of this city, writes as follows to the Wisconsin Cigar Co. (to be): "In this vicinity the famous 'Coomstock' is in general cultivation and we had ample opportunity to compare the annual results from the two varieties, and have invariably found that each succeeding year gave us better satisfaction, possessing a finer, silkier leaf and yielding more pounds per acre. The last season's crop returned 1,450 pounds per acre—1,200 pounds sold for $13.50 per hundred in the bundle. We have two methods of planting. If we determine to cultivate but one way we set 35 by 20 inches. When we desire to cultivate both ways we set 28 by 28 inches. Experience has taught us that the most important factor in the production of a paying crop is in the thorough preparation of the plant bed. Get your land as fine as possible, bearing in mind that the preparation before setting will lessen the after labor in cultivation. The most essential point is early plants, and plenty of them, and when of proper size transplant them wet or dry. Don't wait for a wet season; if you do, you will meet the same disappointment as we have had in time past waiting for the arrival of a generous, broad breasted tobacco buyer."

IN THE TOBACCO MARKET.

SALES OF WISCONSIN CIGAR LEAF GROW IN FREQUENCY.

Janesville buyers of seedleaf have during the past week, been kept fairly busy. An average price of six cents in the bundle has been paid and liberal quantities of leaf have changed hands.

In the east the market is not extraordinarily busy during this week, though little complaint is heard. The New York City demand has become quite active for old fillers of every shape and grade, and Onondaga and Pennsylvania are consequently moving quite rapidly. The prices are satisfactory, running for Pennsylvania on an average of 12 1/2 cents, while clean packages of Onondaga command from 15 to 17 cents.

Mr. W. B. Graves, of Wethersville, Mo., writes: "I suffer sometimes with constipation, and your Salvation Oil gives me instantaneous relief. I cordially recommend it as a sure cure."

A HIT AND FOUR BOUNCES.

MARGARET MATHER'S FALL AND HOW SHE MANAGES IT.

Margaret Mather's fall in the fifth act of "Romeo and Juliet" is said to be one of the most novel seen on the stage in a long time. It is a fall in one lucky hit, four bounces and six rolls. One mistake in the combination may lead anywhere. It generally leads to the footlights. The wonder of the audience is it that it doesn't lead to a surgical operation or a funeral.

When Sara Bernhardt originated the modern stage fall she never dreamed of Miss Mather's attainment in the same direction.

This is a wrinkle in stage acrobatics which breaks the record and stands among stage falls as the feat of going over Niagara on a pail in a bath tub. Bernhardt dropped on a sofa and came to the floor with the suppleness and grace of a lilyard cur. She went at it with tight muscles and got her dull thud and applause. Davenport followed Bernhardt's lead and almost took the sofa, and was satisfied with one thud.

Modjeska in her Siberian bloodthirst melodrama wears out a couch and dents the floor with her bumps. Still, she gets only one thump, and the element of commination is lacking.

Mather goes beyond them all. She takes a flight of steps to do her falling, and runs a gauntlet of fearful risks. It doesn't require any properties, only a friendly curtain, some steps and a stopping place. It saves the stage sofa, but is hard on Mather, the curtain steps and the floor. When it comes, description stops and wabbles aimlessly for words. The Pittsburgh Journal man tried to keep tab on it the other night and in conclusion he said: "To say the audience is surprised only hints at the pervading emotion. The 'ah' that breaks from the throats of the spectators is a shock fall of breathless relief. Art goes out in the wings and hides his head at his own weakness and the victory of gymnastics. There is nothing in the scenery or the acting that approaches the interest of this drop. It knocks out the doctrine of chances in one frantic cyclone of trembling femininity."

THE TESTIMONY CONCLUDED AND VERDICT RENDERED LAST EVENING.

The coroner's jury, summoned to inquire into the cause of the death of the late Maggie Halligan, concluded the investigation last evening and returned the following:—

An inquest taken at the city of Janesville, in the county of Rock, on the 18th day of January, 1889, before F. M. Sloan, one of the Justices of Peace of said county, upon the view of the body of Maggie Halligan came to be dead, by the jurors whose names are heretofore subscribed, who being duly sworn to inquire on behalf of this state, when, in what manner, and by what means said Maggie Halligan came to be dead, upon their oath do say that said Maggie Halligan came to her death by jumping from a spring wagon attached to a team of horses while in the act of running away at a point near Monterey stone quarry, in the city of Janesville; that said deceased was instantly killed without the blame being attached to any persons; said killing being an unavoidable accident.

In testimony whereof the said justice of the peace and the said jurors of the inquest have hereunto set their hands and the day and year aforesaid.

DOINGS OF THE STUDENTS.

NOTES FROM THE STATE UNIVERSITY—AMATEUR THEATRICALS—A SIGMA CHI GERMAN.

Special Correspondence.

MADISON, Jan. 28.—Saturday evening, Laura, one of the young ladies' literary societies, gave at entertainment in library hall. Among the other numbers on the programme Miss Nell Smith, of Janesville, gave an oration on Michael Angelo which was very well delivered and showed careful study and thought. In place of the usual debate the young ladies gave a play written by one of the students of the university, entitled "An Attempted Escape." The leading parts were taken by Miss Jessie Bell and Miss Grace Johnson. The play was something of a novelty and was very successfully carried out.

The board of editors, elected from the junior class, are hard at work on the university manual, the Badger, which will appear the latter part of this term.

Thursday evening the Wisconsin Press Association gave a reception and ball in assembly chamber. About seventy-five students were invited, and as they all cheerfully responded, the ball was a great success.

Friday evening the Sigma Chi fraternity gave a German at Mr. J. H. Morrison's home.

"I Don't Want Scatter, But Care."

Without Money and Without Free.

WORK IN THE COURTS.

To-day's Doings in the Circuit Court and Before Judge Patterson.

A Horse that Wouldn't Keep Quiet at a Funeral—The Bennett Norton Suit.

Judge Bennett granted a divorce to Amanda Holmes from James Holmes to-day for desertion.

A judgment of foreclosure has been entered in the case of Hannah J. Bennett against W. B. Norton.

Judge Patterson has been engaged to-day in hearing testimony concerning a Green county horse. The horse was bought on a guarantee that he was sound and kind. Instead, when he was taken out he kicked so hard that he nearly broke up a funeral procession. It was on this ground that the new owner refused to pay.

Tramps begin to show their familiar faces inside the doors of the municipal court. During the first part of the winter there was hardly an average of one tramp a week; and the court supervisors who had ordered Janesville officers to commit just few tramps as possible smiled a congratulatory smile.

When the board met and the bills came in, however, the smile faded. The tramps who had been looked up in jail over night and then "hustled" out of town had steeled straight for Clinton. There they were arrested, tried and committed to jail; only, instead of $1.67 which it would have cost to attend to the matter in Janesville the fees in each case were $7.67.

The board looked over the bills, and then ordered that the sentencing of tramps in the municipal court should be resumed.

Just at present every one is waiting to see what becomes of the vagrant measure lately introduced in the assembly. By this bill the trial and commitment of each day's contingent of tramps is attended to on one warrant, while at present fees are allowed in each case. The commitment of five tramps from Clinton or Edgerton under the present rule costs in the neighborhood of forty dollars. Under the new bill the cost will be reduced to twelve dollars.

SOMETHING ABOUT WOMEN.

A Lansing, Mich., woman
